NEW TO THE GRAPE BEGINNINGS PORTFOLIO

Finca El Reposo 2007 Malbec

This wine is the heart of the Bodega Campo Negro project. It is a 100% Malbec that comes from 15-20 year old vines planted in the Uco Valley region. Located at more than 3,150 ft above sea level, and being at the foot of the Andes range, this region is the land of the most refined and elegant Malbecs from Argentina. Deep purple color, lots of violets in the nose, and natural great acidity, are the typical characteristics of this typical Uco Valley "appellation" Malbec. Thirty percent of the wine spends 4 months in second and third year old American and French oak barrels.

The 2007 vintage shows an electric violet color with cassis, raspberries, and a little bit of pepper in the nose. There is a coherence of flavors between the mouth and the nose with the added presence of some blueberries. This Malbec represents a very typical example of Malbecs from the Uco Valley.
